

“Gender Identity Disorder” is classified as a mental disorder by the American Psychiatric Association, American Medical Association, the World Health Organization and others in the Medical Community.